About the Report

In making its recommendation to voters about whether a judge should be retained, JPEC considers the judge's legal ability, integrity and judicial temperament, administrative skills, procedural fairness, public comment, and judicial discipline records as well as compliance with judicial education, fitness for office, and case-under-advisement time standards. If a judge meets minimum standards, there is a legal presumption that commissioners will vote to recommend the judge be retained. If a judge fails to meet minimum standards, there is a legal presumption that commissioners will vote not to recommend the judge for retention. Included below are the Survey Report and Report of Courtroom Observation. The Survey Report summarizes information collected from attorneys, court employees, jurors (district and some justice court judges only) and juvenile court professionals (juvenile court judges only). Surveys are anonymous and inclusion in the survey is based on court-appearance records. The Report of Courtroom Observation summarizes information reported by at least four trained, volunteer court observers per judge.

Survey Information

This report presents the results from the 2019 survey process, conducted by Market Decisions, LLC. A detailed description of the survey methodology is available separately on the Utah Judicial Performance Evaluation website.

Description of Sample

The following groups are invited to participate in the survey process:

- Attorneys with appearances before the judge,
- Court staff who work with the judge,
- Juvenile court professionals who work in the judge's courtroom on a regular and continuing basis to provide substantive input to the judge (juvenile court judges only), and
- Jurors who participate in jury deliberation (district and justice court judges only).

With the exception of the attorney survey, the survey contractor attempts to survey all court staff and juvenile court professionals who work with the judge and all jurors who reach the point of jury deliberation. The lists of court staff and juvenile court professionals are provided by the courts and by the Division of Child and Family Services and Juvenile Justice Services. A list of jurors is created after each trial. All lists are forwarded to the surveyor, Market Decisions, LLC.

For the attorney survey, a representative sample of attorneys is drawn to evaluate each judge based on appearances over a designated time period. The sample is weighted to select those with the greatest experience before the judge, assuming that these people will have a better knowledge base about the judge than those with less experience. Attorneys are first stratified into three groups: those with one or more trial appearances, those with five or more non-trial appearances, and those with fewer than five non-trial appearances. Attorneys within each sample are then randomized prior to selection. Selection begins with attorneys who have trial experience, then those with a greater number of non-trial appearances (if needed), and finally those with fewer non-trial appearances (if needed).

Summary of Survey Methods

Surveys are conducted online, using web-based survey software. Each qualified respondent receives an initial email notification signed by the Chief Justice, the Utah State Bar President, and JPEC Chairperson. Next, an email invitation, signed by JPEC's Executive Director contains a link to access all the individual surveys each respondent is invited to complete. A reminder email is sent one week later to those who did not respond by completing and submitting a survey. This is followed by at least two additional reminder emails sent to respondents over the next three weeks. If a respondent completes only part of the survey, he or she is able to finish the survey at a later time.

The number of questions included in the survey varies, ranging from 9 (jurors) to 35 (attorneys with an appearance before an appellate court judge). Each question is evaluated on a sliding scale ranging from 1 (low) to 5 (high).

Responses to individual questions are used to calculate averaged scores in three statutory categories: Legal Ability, Integrity & Judicial Temperament, and Administrative Skills. Judges also receive an average score in Procedural Fairness.

Evaluation Period

The retention evaluation period for judges standing for election in 2020 began on October 1, 2017 and ended on September 30, 2019.

Explanation of Courtroom Observation Summary

SECTION	DESCRIPTION
Overall assessment	The first statement in this section is an overall summary of the entire set of observer comments. The second statement indicates the number of observers indicating that they would feel comfortable appearing before the judge.
Widely agreed-upon themes	Behaviors reported by all (or almost all) observers and thus well established. Deficits mentioned here were also widely reported and therefore merit attention. The subsequent statements are not intended to be a complete summary of the observers' comments, but rather highlight the most frequently noted and forcefully expressed themes, presented in the way that the observers expressed them, with the goal of evoking an overall sense of the entire set of observer comments.
Minority Observations	Behaviors noted by two (or possibly three) observers that would be worth building on (if desirable) or otherwise thinking about avoiding. Not every behavior reported by a minority of observers is summarized here, only those that reflect a notable or somewhat discrepant perspective that was not widely agreed upon.
Anomalous comments	Comments of one (or in rare cases two) observers that reflect a markedly different or decidedly contradictory perspective from all other observers. They are intended to stimulate reflection, such as: why were these observers affected by this behavior, or does this particular situation tend to lead to this uncharacteristic behavior? Not every anomalous comment in the observers' comments are included in this section, typically if they are too minor, or appear to reflect something about the observer rather than the judge.

Paragraphs are introduced with the following terminology.

If the number of observers is specified, e.g. "All observers reported..." or "Three observers reported...", then every statement in the paragraph was mentioned or implied or alluded to by that number of observers.

If the word "variously" is added, e.g. "All observers variously reported..." or "Three observers variously reported...", then not every statement in the paragraph was directly mentioned or implied or alluded to by every one of those observers, but rather the sense of all the statements in the paragraph taken together was.

Evaluative Criteria for Courtroom Observation

CRITERIA	DESCRIPTION
RESPECT
Listening & Focus	Listening refers to all indications of attention and engagement through active listening.
Well-prepared & efficient	Efficiency refers to the judge's behaviors. The court's efficiency appears below under "Courtroom tone & atmosphere".
Respect for other's time	This includes the starting time of sessions as well as all interactions with those in court that take into consideration the value of their time.
Courtesy, politeness, and general demeanor	This refers to respectful behaviors generally, as well as behaviors directed at specific individuals that indicate respect for a person's value or status.
Body language	This refers to eye contact and facial expressions, general body language, and engaged behavior.
Voice quality	This refers to both mechanical qualities such as pitch and volume, and emotional qualities such as inexpressive, sarcastic or exasperated tone.
Courtroom tone & atmosphere	This refers more generally to the tone and atmosphere of the courtroom.
NEUTRALITY
Consistent and equal treatment	This refers to listening to all sides, and treating individuals in similar situations similarly.
Demonstrates concern for individual needs	This refers to concern for individual differences and giving due regard to the individual's specific situation.
Unhurried and careful	This refers to allowing sufficient time for the judge and those in court to conduct themselves in a thorough manner.
VOICE
Considered voice	This refers both to allowing those in court to express themselves and to the judge's consideration of what was expressed in his/her statements or decision.
Formal voice	This refers to giving voice to participants based only on required procedure without apparent consideration by the judge of what was expressed.

Report of Courtroom Observations

COMMUNICATION

Communicates clearly	This refers both to clarity of speech and to the use of language appropriate to the listener.
Ensures information understood	This refers to active attention by the judge in ensuring those in court understand all information relevant to them, and includes translation and comprehension for non-native English speakers.
Provides adequate explanations	This refers to providing sufficient explanation of the basis of decisions and of legal procedure and terminology to ensure that those in court understand proceedings relevant to them.

Content Analysis

Overall Assessment

- Three observers were strongly positive about Judge Boehm. In stark contrast, Observer A was positive in some areas but expressed concerns in other areas (see “Anomalous comments”).
- All observers reported confidence that if appearing before Judge Boehm they would be treated fairly.

Widely Agreed-Upon Themes

- Three observers variously reported that Judge Boehm listened attentively. He always spoke pleasantly with a smile, putting defendants at ease, and one observer was impressed with how he handled a situation that could quickly have got out of control, and his good humor about it made most in the courtroom laugh. He was kind and gentle, patient and courteous, personable and friendly, and he tried to connect with defendants. He asked a Hispanic defendant with a very long name how he would like to be referred to in court, and he was empathetic and understanding with visibly emotional defendants, maintaining a calm voice and comforting defendants who started to cry, letting them know that it was understandable. He showed concern for defendants’ personal circumstances, allowing them to choose the court date to fit their schedule and payment plans for fines that they felt they could succeed at, patiently explaining to a defendant how to obtain the necessary paperwork to fight his ticket, and helping an overwhelmed mother by taking her case out of order so she could care for her children. He communicated effectively and made sure that everyone understood their charges, rights, the processes, and their pleas. While saying the same things again and again he never spoke in a bored or irritated tone of voice, and when defendants seemed indecisive or unsure, he would explain things multiple times.
- Observers particularly emphasized that Judge Boehm encouraged all defendants and victims to tell their story without interrupting, and he took the same gentle approach with everyone, putting one defendant sufficiently at ease to speak about a difficult incident so that he could understand what he needed to know. Before ruling he asked if there was anything more they wanted him to know about themselves or their situation, telling the defendants to ask as many questions as they had, and he ended hearings by again asking “Any questions?”

Minority Observations

- Two observers variously noted that Judge Boehm might be too personable, as he spent so much time discussing things with each defendant that the court got behind schedule at times, but when this occurred Judge Boehm was apologetic, and his friendliness made everyone feel comfortable with delays. However, Observer A noted that participants could not enter the courtroom until about an hour after the stated time, and the judge did not apologize for starting late.

Anomalous Comments

- Observer A noted that Judge Boehm was professional and neutral and interested in participants’ problems and concerns regarding their ability to pay fines, and he took different courses of action in each case according to the defendant’s reason for being there. However, Observer A additionally expressed some concerns in stark contrast to the other observers. The judge was sometimes abrupt in his responses, and he only minimally honored participants’ right to share their thoughts regarding their citations without giving the impression that he was very interested in what they had to say. He did show concern for defendants struggling with addiction and encouraged them to seek out treatment as soon as possible, but when it was the participant's time to talk Judge Boehm cut them off to lecture them about his understanding of substance abuse and mental health, and Observer A felt unsettled and frustrated when the judge expressed his empathy by having discussions regarding addiction unrelated to the law that the observer did not consider accurate.

How to Read the Results

The results are shown in both graphs and tables. Each judge's scores are shown along with a comparison to other judges who serve at the same court level. The comparison group is called "Justice Court" on the charts.

The statutory category scores and the procedural fairness survey score represent average scores on a scale of 1 (low) to 5 (high). Responses from all survey respondent groups contribute to the average score shown for each category, with the exception of Legal Ability. Only attorneys answer the Legal Ability questions.

What does it take to "pass"?

The judge must score a minimum of 3.6 on Legal Ability, Integrity & Judicial Temperament, and Administrative Skills to earn a presumption of retention from the Commission. That is, if a judge scores an average of 3.6 in each of these categories, the Commission will vote to recommend retention unless it can articulate a substantial reason for overcoming the presumption in favor of retention. Similarly, if a judge fails to get a 3.6 in a category, the Commission will vote against retention unless it can articulate a substantial reason for overcoming the presumption against retention.

To determine whether the judge passes the Procedural Fairness standard, the Commission considers only data collected as part of the performance evaluation. Judges will receive either a Pass or Fail in procedural fairness, and this determination will be made by the Commission only during the retention cycle.

Respondents are asked whether or not they think the judge should be recommended for retention only during the retention cycle. For midterm evaluations, respondents are asked whether they think the judge would benefit from added training or education.

Honorable Michael P. Boehm

- Serving South Jordan Municipal Justice Court, Salt Lake County
- Commission Recommendation: Retain
- Commission Vote Count: 13 - 0 (for retention)
- Performance Standards: Passed 8 of 8

Appointed in 2017, Judge Michael Boehm's scores are statistically above the average of his justice court peers on integrity and judicial temperament and administrative skills and consistent with his peers on legal ability and procedural fairness. Ninety-four percent of survey respondents recommend him for retention. Survey ratings of judicial attributes indicate Judge Boehm is particularly attentive. Respondents describe the judge as a fair and excellent judge. They, along with courtroom observers, appreciate his courteous demeanor and ability to ensure understanding of those in court. All observers report confidence that they would be treated fairly if they were to appear in Judge Boehm's court. This judge meets discipline standards set by statute and has been certified by the Judicial Council as meeting all time standards, education requirements, and mental and physical competence standards.

Judge Michael Boehm was appointed to the South Jordan Justice Court in January 2017. Judge Boehm received a degree in business management from Brigham Young University. After a brief period in the corporate world, he returned to law school, graduating with honors from Thomas Jefferson School of Law in San Diego, California. Upon his graduation, Judge Boehm returned to Utah and joined the Salt Lake County District Attorney's Office where he handled a wide range of matters, including a number of significant high-profile cases. Since his appointment, Judge Boehm has focused his efforts on implementing technological improvements throughout the court process to improve efficiency and communication. He has implemented the recommendations made in the Justice Reinvestment Initiative (JRI) to reduce recidivism by focusing on treatment rather than incarceration. Judge Boehm also implemented changes designed to safeguard the substantive and procedural due process rights of those charged with public offenses in South Jordan.
